¹Please note that for data provided on social media platforms, the platforms' respective terms of use and data protection policies apply. For further details, please refer to the documentation of the respective provider (YouTube, Facebook, Instagram, LinkedIn). Please only choose this option if you also consent to the terms of use and data protection policies of these third parties. The transfer of data to third countries entails risks. According to a decision of the European Court of Justice, third-country authority powers can interfere with the basic rights of EU citizens to a disproportionate degree. Moreover, no effective legal protection can be provided. Revoking consent or requesting the deletion of data may not be possible due to the different prevailing national legal situations.
